ICICKM provides an opportunity for academics and practitioners from North America and elsewhere who are involved in the study; management, development and implementation of knowledge management initiatives to come together and exchange ideas. The advisory group for the conference invites submissions of papers on both the theory and practice of all aspects of intellectual capital, knowledge management (KM) and organisational learning. The conference in October 2004 is seeking quantitative, qualitative and experience-based papers from industry and academe. Topics may include but are not limited to: Frameworks for conceptualising KM, parameters of the field of study, knowledge creation and sharing mechanisms; knowledge asset valuation models; impact on organisational learning; impact on business strategy, architectures for KM systems, integration of knowledge from different groups in an organization, knowledge sharing between different groups in an organization, how to initiate KM, resourcing KM, KM case studies, the evaluation of KM, KM and the Web and e-Business.

In addition to multiple streams of papers, the conference committee are inviting proposals for workshops and tutorials on topics related to KM and research methods applicable to this field.

Important information:

The selection panel of the conference committee will consider all abstracts received by the submission deadline to ensure that the proposed paper is relevant to the Conference. The authors of abstracts, which describe a relevant paper, will receive a notification of abstract acceptance. All full papers will be double-blind reviewed by members of the conference committee to ensure an adequate standard, that the proposed subject of their abstract has been followed, that the paper is of a suitable length, that the standard of English is adequate and that the paper is appropriately referenced. Accepted papers will be published in the conference proceedings providing at least one author registers and presents the work at the Conference (see the registration section of the conference website for more information about registration). Due to the large number of papers expected for this conference, the committee only allows an author to present one paper. Therefore if multiple papers are accepted for presentation different co-authors need to present each paper.
